Announcement of Grant of High Security Film Patent In United States of America

Arrow Coated Products Ltd., (ACPL) has received a grant for patent titled "Method of Producing a High Security Film and High Security Film produced by said Method", Patent No. 8187406 from U.S. Patent Office.

The invention relates to a high security film, optionally in the form of a slit thread or a micro tape, which is then inserted into high security paper such as a bank note paper and the like during the paper making process. The invention envisages a novel method of producing such a high security film using a print transfer method, wherein one or more security features are incorporated on one or more indicia including letters, optionally graphics, during such a production process.

This is one of first patents, amongst many patents, which Arrow Coated Products plans to commercialize. This patent has been filed and granted in many other countries worldwide, including India, Europe, etc.

Arrow Coated is a pioneer in manufacturing Hydrophilic Films by a unique method using detachable liners, also patented by the company. Arrow's RND department also has many years experience in the field of Security and chemistry related to the same. Combining these two technologies, a lot of resources have been spent on producing new products. Since the year 2000, Team Arrow decided to ensure that all ideation, RND and processes are kept in utmost confidential manner, and should be protected by International and National Patents.

Valuation of patents is also an art, and Arrow is now contacting experts in this field, and the same shall be informed to all Share holders, as soon as the same is done.
