Announcement of Grant of Water Soluble Film Based Matrix Patent In US

Arrow Coated Products Limited (ACPL) has received a grant for patent titled "Water Soluble Film Based Matrix" Patent No. 8673236, from US Patent Office. The rights under this patent are protected till 2027.

"The invention under this patent provides water soluble film based matrix for collecting and storing samples extracted from living species for avoiding cross infection or spillage of samples. The present invention also eliminates the problem of disposal of used containers."

The principal end use is to collect pathological samples for labs, to analyze and verify the presence or absence of pathogens.

ACPL is a pioneer in manufacturing Water Soluble Film by a unique method using detachable liners. Arrow's RND department has many years experience in Coatings, Security Printing, and casting films, since many years. This US patent, along with ACPL's previous patents in health, hygiene and pharma products may add value to Arrow's business.

ACPL has a total of 30 Granted Patents in India, US, Europe, Eurasia, Africa, and Australia. Arrow is prosecuting several other patents in other countries.

It shall be ACPL's on-going endeavor to commercialize these patents and related products over the coming years.
